

First Edition Concert Set In Two Weeks

"KENNY RODGERS AND THE FIRST EDITION" is a beautifully bound group whose music goes straight to the heart and mind of America. They will perform a 2 hour concert at the UTM Fieldhouse, Tuesday, Oct. 13. The roots of the music go deep into the rich soil of folk melody, blues, jazz, hard rock, and the classics.

The group was born when Kenny Rodgers and Mike Settle left the "New Christy Minstrels" and spearheaded "The First Edition." Mike has since left the group for a career in television writing, but still composes for the group.

It wasn't long before the "First Edition" became a regular on the charts, starting with "What Condition My Condition Is In." "Ruby Don't Take Your Love to Town" followed as a top single with "Ruben James" and "Something's Burning" doing likewise. Their current hit is "Tell It All Brother."

The members of the group include Kenny Rodgers, who is lead singer, and lead guitarist Terry Williams who is currently mastering the 20 string guitar. Mary Arnold not only provides the group with a splendid voice, but also adds to its appearance. She attended Drake University and formerly sang with "The Young Americans." Rounding out the group is bass guitar Kim Literally and Mickey Jones on the drums.

The concert is presented by the UTM Student Government. Tickets are $3.00 in advance and $4.00 at the door.

Enrollment Set At 4,500

Dean of Admissions and Records, Henry C. Allison, reports registration went smoothly the first day but encountered some difficulty Thursday.

THERE is no breakdown yet on the number in each class, but the Business office figures show a count of 4,461 in attendance as of Friday. The figure will probably settle at about 4,500 when full registration is completed. There were 130 late registrars, mostly graduate students and those who like to get in that last day of work.

"There is in my opinion about the same number of new students as last year," Dean Allison said. "The major problem in this year's registration was that so many students who were to register Wednesday put off their registration until Thursday."

TO alleviate this problem, next year a student can have his assigned hour plus one hour to show up for registration. Dean Allison also said he hoped students would quit coming early to stand in line to go into the ballroom.

Students, Staff Must Show ID

During the summer many campuses across the country adopted regulations concerning visitors.

Since many of the riots and disruptions which have plagued colleges have been instigated and/or attended by outsiders, new campus codes will be instrumental in stopping and preventing unauthorized demonstrations.

This summer the University of Tennessee Board of Trustees established the following policies and procedures to help insure persons who have no legitimate reason to be on campus may be removed:

1. THE CAMPUS, BUILDINGS, and facilities of the University of Tennessee at Martin shall be restricted to students, faculty, staff, guests*, and invitees* of the University, except when public events, such as intercollegiate athletic contests, concerts, lectures, and public meetings, are held on campus, at which times the University shall be considered open to all persons desirous of attending such events.

2. ALL UNIVERSITY PERSONNEL (students, faculty, administration, and staff) shall provide acceptable identification (I.D. card, fee receipt, etc.) when requested to do so by Safety and Security Officers or other University officials designated by the Chancellor. University personnel who refuse to give acceptable identification shall be subject to appropriate University action.

Burning Tax Money

'Cool It' Must Prevail Despite Hot Forecast

By David Hill

The media forecasts by educators and other authorities state that a "cool it" attitude must prevail in order to avoid another riotous academic year.

The survival of our public universities is at stake. This is a statement issued by controversial Frank Erwin Jr. of the University of Texas board of regents.

"We're like a vast system only a few millimeters from building up to its explosive point. Nobody seems to grasp the degree to which people are fed up," Joseph Rhodes Jr., a member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, said recently.

Chancellor Albert Bowker of the City University of New York is more optimistic about the solidarity of American higher education. He said, "This society won't topple with a few bombs, it will go after the bomb throwers."

The general public is already retaliating by becoming more reluctant to let go of the tax dollar in order to finance such fiascoes as the Wisconsin bombings.

Editorial Jobs Now Open

If you have the ambition and ability to work for the campus press rather than just criticize it, you have the opportunities.

TWO MAJOR editorial positions—an associate editor and a news editor—are now open on THE VOLETTE. Those who plan careers in communications or who have an intense interest in the tremendous importance of student newspapers are invited to apply.

Reporters are also needed by this newspaper. The enrollment increase dictates more encompassing coverage.

TO BETTER serve the campus, the newspaper needs talented student reporters in several areas. All applications should be left in the newspaper office, Humanities Bldg. 116.

The first editorial meeting of the year is scheduled for this evening at 6:00 in the newspaper office. Those interested in joining the staff should attend.

Editorial

America Is Alive And Well

Pick up almost any newspaper of consequence, or any national magazine for that matter, and you find an overwhelming abundance of articles on the ills of America. If the focus isn't on racial strife, it's on the campus dissent over the war in Viet Nam, the spiraling crime rate, violence in the streets, poverty, welfare, or staggering taxation. IN FACT, if we were to think only in terms of the headlines, one could readily conclude that America is teetering on the brink of social, economic and moral disaster. Is this great experiment we call a democracy about to come crashing down around us?

We think not.

WE DO HAVE problems—some very real problems that require the very best of our thinking and technology to solve. It is not the intent of this editorial to "whitewash" our problems, but there's another story behind the headlines that we believe also needs to be told.

Never before in the history of the world has a society offered so much prosperity to so many. American scientific and technological achievements have thrilled the human race, and in the development of this great technology, our system of creative free enterprise has made an unequalled prosperity for both the owners of the new machines and the skilled workers who operate them.

THE AMERICAN worker—white collar and blue—has played an important role in the development of our economic strength. And, the American worker has shared, like no other in history, in the rewards of our prosperity. He or she is, without question, the highest paid of the world's workers, receiving innumerable fringe benefits; works fewer hours a day, and enjoys a standard of living unequalled in the world today.

The American worker is part of that vast majority of Americans who are proving themselves to be strong and morally responsible by spending billions to erase the problems of poverty at home—and additional billions to help other lesser developed nations throughout the free world...a responsibility we cannot shirk.

WE ARE MAKING progress toward the solution of some of our major problems. During the last nine years, for example, more than 13 million Americans left poverty behind them. Median family income has increased to $8,000 a year, 5 million more Americans became owners of their own homes, and "two cars in every garage" became a reality for over 15 million Americans.

To be sure, in our free enterprise society, the rich sometimes do get richer, and the big sometimes do get bigger, but through our free enterprise process the poor make more money, too, and the little guy has a way of getting bigger. This doesn't always make the headlines. It's the story behind the headlines—these positive factors—which make America great.

Editors Reject Sloppy Copy

Sloppy copy submissions from any source, on or off campus will NOT be accepted by this newspaper.

MANY of the stories and announcements from groups and organizations on and off campus this issue were crude and unreliable. No publication can edit—much less have printed—items it can't decipher.

All items turned in to this newspaper must be double spaced and typed or printed. PREFERABLY THE LATTER. Longhand will not be accepted. The deadline for submissions is 9:00 a.m. on Mondays.

MATERIAL turned in after this time can't be considered for use in the Wednesday issue. Due to timeliness, it probably can't be used in the fall when issues either outdated stories will not be used.

All stories turned in must have the name of the writer of the story, address, phone, and the date in the upper left corner. Use only standard 8 1/2" x 11" paper.

REVIEW is an example of correct news writing. It should be used as a guideline for all submissions.

First list the facts for the 5-W news formula: WHO? WHAT? WHEN? WHERE? WHY? HOW?

For example: Who or What met (When and Where) and did What and Why, if applicable.

ROTC Alters Present Program

MODIFICATIONS IN THE ROTC program offered at The University of Tennessee at Martin include elimination of fall quarter drill and the offering of certain options, Dr. Norman Campbell, vice chancellor for academic affairs, has announced.

An exception to the elimination of drill in the fall quarter will be one two-hour convocation period October 1.

Certain academic courses regularly open to sophomores are offered as options in the winter quarter, Dr. Campbell said. Military Science I and II are being retained this year with the political science-geography option, offered for the first time in 1969-70.

Classroom procedures in MS I and MS II have been modified to bring them in line with those followed in other classes.

Dr. Campbell said the academic deans, upon recommendation of the Military Affairs Committee, have been requested to consider ways in which the students in their respective schools can apply more hours of military science credit toward their degrees.

Further study is being given to the question of whether ROTC should be made voluntary at some future time, Dr. Campbell said.

Art Professor Displays Work

A one-man art show featuring paintings and sculpture of Thel Ward Taylor will be exhibited at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haden, located one-half mile south of East State Line Road near South Fulton.

THE OUTDOOR show will begin at 10 AM on Saturday and at 1 PM on Sunday, and will continue until dusk both days. Also featured will be the handcrafts of Miss Trudy Thompson of Fulton.

An assistant professor of art education, he has had his work shown in Memphis and Nashville, as well as nationally and internationally.

A NATIVE of Union City, Prof. Taylor, served two years in the Air Force and attended the Memphis Academy of Arts and Murray State University. He received his BS here and his master of arts degree from George Peabody College.

PROF. TAYLOR, his wife Barbara and their three children, live at 416 Florida Avenue, Union City.

FRANKLY SPEAKING by Phil Frank

Chancellor Speaks

I WANT TO welcome all members of the student body, the faculty, and staff back on the campus. We especially extend a warm welcome to those who are on our campus for the first time, either as entering or transfer students or as new faculty. We are confident you will find the UTM campus a pleasant place to live and work.

We expect the coming year to be another productive year for all members of the campus community. Students at the University of Tennessee at Martin have an almost unparalleled opportunity to secure a superior quality education from an excellent and dedicated faculty. Faculty members have opportunity to work with capable, serious-minded students.

AND AS A CAMPUS, we are committed to achieving excellence in all phases of our academic program. These attributes, taken together, set the University of Tennessee at Martin apart as a distinctive university of a new kind—one that is committed to excellence in teaching and to working with its students on a personal and individual basis.

It is our aspiration to develop the University of Tennessee at Martin into Tennessee's finest undergraduate university, and in so doing provide the educational experiences needed and desired by our students. We believe the year ahead will be one of significant progress toward this goal.

AS WE BEGIN the new year, we would call special attention also to a number of new program developments and new buildings to serve the needs of our students. Leading the academic program developments are the new programs in Nursing and in Engineering Technology.

For the first time, students may enroll in these programs this fall. In the physical plant area, the new Fine Arts Building and a new residence hall are approaching completion. The Fine Arts is ultramodern and offers UTM students some of the finest facilities to be found anywhere.

AS THE NEW year opens, there are also many new faces among the faculty and staff. These people, coming to UTM from all over the country, represent the continuing growth of the University. These new members of the faculty and staff, like those already on the campus, are eminently qualified for their responsibilities and will bring new stimulation and new ideas to us.

Again, we welcome all of you—students, faculty, and staff alike—back to the campus and wish for you a pleasant and productive year of work.

Recital Slated

ALLISON NELSON, instructor and artist-in-residence at The University of Tennessee at Martin, will give a piano recital in the new Fine Arts Building October 6 at 8 p.m.

In announcing the recital, Dr. Ernest Harriss, chairman of the Department of Music Education, said this will be the first event open to the public to be presented in the new 2.1 million dollar building devoted to the fine arts.

Campus Choral Groups Open For Auditions

Seven choral organizations are open to students for their appreciation and enjoyment according to John A. Matheson. The groups and particulars concerning them are as follows:

CHORALAIRS is a choir of 50 to 60 voices chosen by auditions during registration and after its first rehearsal. One of the most active vocal bodies on campus, it performs for various functions, gives concerts, and tours between winter and spring quarters. A CAPPELLA and accompanied sacred and secular literature drawn from all periods of music history are performed. Each member may earn one credit hour quarterly, and meetings are held five days a week from 3:00-4:00.

The Madrigals consist of 8 to 12 singers. They are chosen for optimum blend, balance, and musicianship specializing in 16th Century, chansons and modern chamber music, secular and sacred. The Madrigals perform in concerts with the Choralairs, and for special occasions. Each member may earn one credit hour each quarter. They meet two hours per week at an arranged time.

CO-EDS, as its title indicates, is open to all university women. The group performs light, popular music in each quarterly choral concert. One hour credit may be earned for regular attendance and satisfactory performance at two rehearsals per week, Monday and Wednesday from 1:00-2:00.

Treble Choir is an auditioned women's choir, chosen by audition during registration and during the first week of classes. It performs serious choral literature, both sacred and secular for treble voices. One hour credit is given for two rehearsals each week, Tuesday and Thursday at 11:00-12:00.

THE ROTC Cadet Chorus does show tunes, folk songs and other light and popular music. Members are excused from ROTC drill and rehearse two hours per week, Tuesday and Thursday from 1:00-2:00. Auditions are not required. One hour credit may be earned quarterly.

The Collegian Singers perform traditional spirituals and other music related to the heritage of Black Americans. The singers have concerts in area churches and perform in choral concerts. It meets Monday and Wednesday from 11:00-12:00 for one credit hour.

THE University Chorus is open to men and coeds, the faculty, and people of the area. This chorus performs sacred and secular oratorios and cantatas. This quarter it will perform "The Messiah." It meets Monday evening from 6:30-9:30.

Cool It

I expect more violence this year, but from fewer people. This was the remark given to a reporter by University of Wisconsin's chancellor Edwin Young.

Do numbers make a difference where violence is concerned? Remember the American public is fed up. Ratios and proportions concern people primarily when they think where their money is going.

Slate Annual
Meet At ETSU

Among the picking and singing at the 36th annual meeting of the Tennessee Folklore Society on Friday and Saturday at East Tennessee State University in Johnson City will be a discussion of "The Out-house in Lore and Literature" by an East Texas State U. professor.

According to Professor Walter Haden of the English department here and TFS president, highlights of the program will include Janette (Carter) Kelly singing and playing songs of her father, A. P. Carter and the Original Carter Family. Student dancers from this campus will perform black folk dances of West Tennessee.

Numerous other activities are also on the program. The program is open to the public free of charge. Residents and non-residents of the state are eligible. Reservations for the banquet may be made through Dr. Tom Burton or Dr. Ambrose Manning of the Department of English at East Tennessee State.

3. INVITEES AND GUESTS on the campus of the University of Tennessee at Martin must provide identification and/or qualification if requested to do so by Safety and Security Officers or other University officials designated by the Chancellor. Persons who are unable or unwilling to give acceptable identification and/or qualification shall be requested to leave the campus and, if they refuse, shall be subject to lawful removal and prosecution.

4. GUESTS AND INVITEES shall observe all University rules and regulations governing the use of and conduct in University buildings and grounds. Violation of rules and regulations may result in lawful removal from the campus, prosecution, and withdrawal of visitation privileges.

5. CAMPUS FACILITIES, SUCH as tennis courts and ball fields, traditionally used by local citizens for recreational purposes, may continue to be so used, except as such use may conflict with programs and activities of the University, its students, faculty, or staff.

6. UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, FACULTY, and staff shall be responsible for observing and following policies and procedures regulating the bringing on campus of persons who are not students or staff members of the University. Those who fail to do so shall be subject to appropriate action by the University.

Procedures enforcing the policies are:

1. THERE SHALL BE placed at appropriate places about the campus signs bearing the following message: "This campus and its facilities have been provided for the legitimate use of students, faculty, staff, guests*, and invitees* of the University of Tennessee at Martin. The University reserves the right to require identification and satisfactory explanation of presence at any time."

AGR

Alpha Upsilon brought two major trophies to campus this fall from the National Alpha Gamma Rho convention held this summer. The Chapter Efficiency Award recognized Alpha Upsilon as the most efficiently operated AGR chapter in the country. AU was also recognized as the second highest chapter in the nation scholastically. It also marked first in scholarship among fraternities on this campus for the fifth consecutive year.

ROTC

Approximately 100 co-eds will compete for the 17 sponsorship positions when the ROTC cadet brigade meets to vote in the Fieldhouse. A sponsor candidate must be at least sophomore with a minimum average of 2.0 and be unmarried. Any co-ed who meets those qualifications may compete for the positions.

THE UTM cheerleaders for 1970-71 are (top, l. to r.) Daryl Brandenburg, Peggy Guthrie, Debbie Browning, Marcia Hanna, Barbara Moody, Jackie Jewell, Judy Fesmire, and Donna Smith.

Vols Comeback Costly As Injuries Mar Victory

The Vols roared back from a season opening setback by Middle Tennessee to take their first victory of the season in Lake Charles, Louisiana, Saturday night defeating McNeese State University 10-7.

Playing for the second consecutive week on a soggy field, the Vol offense sputtered five times inside the Cowboys 20-yard line and was denied a touchdown. But an awesome defensive attack by a stingy band of Orangemen limited the opponents to a gain of only 11 rushing yards during the game. During the second half, the Pokes could not mount an attack and were thrown for minus 24 yards rushing.

"It was a great win for us," head coach Robert Carroll said. "The defense played a superb game and the offense moved the ball well, but we are still making too many offensive errors."

Balancing their season record at 1-1 on what is possibly the season's longest collegiate field goal, the Vols fought back from a 7-0 halftime deficit to a 7-7 tie on Theron Murphy's 72-yard punt return and a perfect conversion by place kicker Randy Barnes.

With approximately 3:11 remaining in the game, UTM senior linebacker Terry Giltner intercepted a pass on the Vols 37 and returned it to the McNeese 46. Mounting a drive to the Pokes' 26, UTM quarterback Glen Lowe was dumped for a seven yard loss to the 33.

With 1:44 remaining to play, Barnes made his college football debut booting a 50-yard field goal which sailed perfectly through the uprights for the winning points. The field goal was a record for McNeese's Cowboy Stadium and established a new kicking record for UTM.

The victory was a costly one for the Orangemen. Sophomore quarterback Kelly Coker and fullback Larry Love are out indefinitely. Coker sustained a knee sprain in the third quarter, and Love is suffering from a dislocated shoulder. Jim Thornhill, a starting defensive tackle against Middle Tennessee, who did not see action this week, is still on the injured list.

Enrollment

He said he has no control over this problem since even if the building were locked students would still line up early.

AMONG other problems encountered was the breaking of the ID card machine and a slow pain in the registration process at Biology.

Dean Allison stated that some of the organizations who were in the ballroom would have to be cut out and that some of the tables for card take-up in the ballroom would have to be consolidated.

A new restriction would be put on the registration workers, who usually register early and go on to work, to allow for complete fairness in the system. These workers will simply be put into their respective lines when the appropriate time comes.

The "yellow slip" survey taken to tabulate speed and necessary remarks has not been analyzed yet. It's estimated that one out of ten students commented. "We often find some good suggestions from our survey," Dean Allison said.

Big bold and elegant.

GANT

Here's an exciting Gant shirt called Keats. With a big, bold collar that keeps its composure with many a wrinkle from A.M. to P.M. Thanks to a great new Gant stay. Precisely tailored in a dramatically striped cotton broadcloth. Distinctively Gant. In varied colorings. Trim tapered body.
